Experiment 11: Torque

Up until now we have dealt with mostly translational motion in one dimension. Now we will focus on the dynamics of rotational motion about a xed axis. When a force F is applied to body about its axis a rotation or pivot, a twisting or rotating force arises called torque. The magnitude of the torque, is given

Experimental Objectives